

HAGEN HAGEN & HAGEN
WILL BE HANGING AROUND
WITH THEIR PAINTINGS & PHOTOGRAPHY
AT THE CEDARBURG CULTURAL CENTER
MAY 9 TO JUNE 21
RECEPTION SUNDAY, MAY 17, 2009
1PM TO 3PM

BOB HAGEN, SR.
Painter

ROB HAGEN, JR.
Photographer

DAVE HAGEN
Photographer

The Cedarburg Cultural Center is a diverse organization providing access to and participation in the visual and performing arts, the humanities and local heritage.

Located at W62 N546 Washington Ave. in historic downtown Cedarburg, the Center's free public galleries are open Tuesday through Saturday from 10am to 5pm, and Sunday from noon until 4pm. The Center is closed on Mondays.

262.375.3676
www.cedarburgculturalcenter.org

CEDARBURG CULTURAL CENTER
Where Art, Music & History Thrive.

ROBERT H. HAGEN, SR.

Painter/Designer

My 50 year professional career has been primarily as an art director for advertising and design.

Upon ending that career in early 2000, I started a lifelong desire to paint full time. I have been able to do that just about every day.

My most recent challenge has been to convert from a watercolorist to oil painter. This has happened with the encouragement and help from many fellow artists.

My pieces in this show will be split between a few of my older pieces dating back to the 70's and the more recent oils of florals and everyday objects. I am currently exhibiting in the Milwaukee and Door Co. areas.

ROBERT H. HAGEN

Photographer/Printmaker

Having just reached a career milestone passing thirty years as a Commercial Photographer. I am still as passionate about photography as I was as Jack Jackson's assistant at eighteen years old.

Over the years new passions involving snorkeling and exploring the Caribbean / Central America, garden and landscape photography as well as digital photography and printing. Have all become part of my vision. This along with a firm belief that photographers should always pursue the creation of wall worthy images has brought me to this point.

My first show !

DAVID HAGEN

David Hagen, a Milwaukee native, has been working as a photographer for 20+ years. In the Cleveland, Ohio market, Hagen's day-to-day work has consists of commercial portraits, food, and still life photography for Kalman and Pabst Photography.

Hagen has also broken into the Fine Art market producing shows throughout the Midwest over the past eight years. Hagen's latest show, titled Cleveland, features an eclectic body of work spanning his experiences over the last 12 years. He finds inspiration in the ardent disposition of Clevelanders. Though often portrayed as a city with burning waterways and dying industry, Cleveland is made up of people from all ethnic and economic backgrounds whose passion for their city runs deep.